Introduction

This bibliography provides some basic reference material for the study of transportation history in King County. Not included below are many references that concern transportation related: biographies and autobiographies, histories of shipyards, aircraft manufacture, fisheries and truck and automotive production. Materials relating to these and other themes peripheral to transportation, such as recreation, may be addressed in other theme-specific bibliographies. There are a number of historic property inventory documents and landmark nominations relating to roads, depots, vessels and other aspects of transportation related public works, but most are not included here due to limitations of space. There is a considerable amount of material available in newspapers and journals, but only a very few of these references are included here. Many aspects of transportation have not yet been researched in depth, so information relating to them may appear only as chapters or references in government documents or county and community history publications. Researchers may wish to consult other bibliographic studies in the current series of Historical Papers.

There are considerable resources available at archives, libraries and other repositories, here and elsewhere, such as the material concerning Burlington Northern Railroad (and its predecessors) at the Minnesota Historical Society.

This bibliography is a work in progress, and is far from comprehensive. To contribute new or updated information, contact the Heritage 4Culture Publications Program at the above address.
