Introduction

4Culture is undertaking this assessment of applicants primarily to gather information and evaluate racial equity-focused efforts organizations have taken during the process of construction and development of their projects. In alignment with 4Culture’s institutional approach to equity, this assessment acknowledges that systemic inequity takes many interconnected forms—racism, sexism, ableism, transphobia, heterosexism, and more. The intent of this assessment is to focus on racial equity because it will identify tools we can use to help dismantle all of these oppressions. To learn more about Racial Equity at 4Culture, visit: Racial Equity at 4Culture and Mission, Vision, Values – 4Culture.

The goal of this component of the application is to identify and evaluate equitable development efforts and practices that advance racially equitable outcomes. Special attention is requested in describing alternative equity-focused efforts not covered in this assessment.

Lengthy responses to this assessment are not needed. The wording of some of these questions may not exactly fit your organization and its efforts. Please describe your equity efforts to the best of your ability. Some questions may not be relevant or apply to your specific organization.

Please answer the best you can and tell us if a question doesn’t apply to you. Most questions ask you to tell us about your organization’s efforts toward equity. Please share what you can even if is outside of the definitions and terms provided. If you have questions about this assessment, please email maya.santos@4culture.org. Definitions & Resources

You’ll see the following terms in the assessment:

Equitable development is an approach to planning and community development paired with public and private investments and service delivery that advances equity and self-determination of communities:

- Adversely impacted by structural racism and discrimination;
- Experiencing disparities in economic and health outcomes; and
- Facing a heightened risk of displacement. These communities primarily include BIPOC, low-income, immigrants and refugees, people with disabilities, seniors, and LGBTQ+ communities.*

Anti-racism is the active process of identifying and eliminating racism by changing systems, organizational structures, policies and practices and attitudes, so that power is redistributed and shared equitably (source: NAC International Perspectives: Women and Global Solidarity)

Racial Justice is a vision and transformation of society to eliminate racial hierarchies and advance collective liberation, where Black, Indigenous, and people of color and those defined as African American/Black, Hispanic/Latino, Asian American, Pacific Islander, Native Hawaiian, Alaska Native, or Native American, in particular, have the dignity, resources, power, and self-determination to fully thrive. (source: Race Forward)

Racial Equity is a process of eliminating racial disparities and improving outcomes for everyone. It is the intentional and continual practice of changing policies, practices, systems, and structures by prioritizing measurable change in the lives of BIPOC people. (source: adapted from Race Forward)

BIPOC is an acronym for Black, Indigenous, and people of color and defined as African American/Black, Hispanic/Latino, Asian American, Pacific Islander, Native Hawaiian, Alaska Native, or Native American. (Adapted from the Washington State Office of Minority and Women’s Business Enterprises).

LGBTQIA+ is an abbreviation for lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer or questioning, intersex, asexual, and more. These terms are used to describe a person’s sexual orientation or gender identity. See below for a more detailed definition of each term, from GLAAD’s LGBTQ Media Reference Guide. (source: The Center)

Underserved as a term for the purposes of this assessment describes communities inclusive of (but not exclusive to) people who are differently abled, people with low-incomes, seniors, recent immigrants, residents of minority race and ethnicities, BIPOC, LGBTQIA+, gender-nonconforming individuals, and/or residents of rural and unincorporated areas of King County.

Historically marginalized people for the purpose of this assessment refers to the impacts of generations of racist and gender-biased policies and practices that restricted or excluded women, low-income and BIPOC communities from land ownership and effectively marginalized.

BIPOC-led businesses/service providers – a business or service provider (1) that is at least 51 percent owned by one or more individuals who identify as BIPOC or, in the case of a corporation, in which 51 percent of the stock is owned by one or more such individuals. (2) Whose management and daily business operations are controlled by one or more BIPOC individuals. (inspired by term “disadvantaged business enterprise”: federal rule Title 49 C.F.R. 26.67 Electronic Code of Federal Regulations.)

Minority-owned business Enterprises (MBE) are ones based in the United States or a tribal reservation where one or more minorities own at least 51% of the business and show contribution of capital and expertise and control the managerial and day-to-day operations. For the purposes of this assessment, businesses do not need to be state-certified to qualify.

LEED Social Equity credits are options for projects already seeking LEED (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design) certification.

More about these credits can be found here.

SEED’s (Social Economic Environmental Design) goal is to provide a common standard to guide, evaluate and measure the social, economic and environmental impact of design projects. You can learn more about their certification options here.

Apprenticeship builds skills at the intersection of worker and employer interests. It provides relevant work experience, on-the-job learning, employment during training, and wage rewards for skill gains. (Source: Equity in Apprenticeship)
